

Check Your Set-Aside Certs

This guide helps you figure out which federal set-aside certifications your company might qualify for, which can mean real money in government contracting.

What it is. Inside this folder, you'll find quick self-assessment sheets for 8(a), HUBZone, WOSB/EDWOSB, Small Disadvantaged Business, and VOSB/SDVOSB. Each one takes about ten minutes to go through. They help you check your eligibility and list the documents you'll need to gather. Remember, SDVOSB verification now goes through the SBA, not the VA, and it's what buyers look for.

When to use it. Use these early, before you start chasing contracts. Certifications like these give you a big advantage in set-aside competitions, which are often less crowded. It's worth the upfront time to see what you qualify for.

How to use it.

- Open the 8(a) Self-Assessment, HUBZone Worksheet, WOSB / EDWOSB Self-Cert, Small Disadvantaged Business Self-Assessment, and VOSB / SDVOSB Verification Guide.
- Answer each question honestly. Don't guess. If you're not sure, mark it to research later.
- Note the required documents listed for each certification you might pursue.
- Decide which certifications make sense for your firm and start gathering those documents.

Watch out for. Don't assume you qualify for something without running through the checklist. The SBA is strict, especially with SDVOSB verification, and they'll check everything. You must meet all criteria.

Open it in your kit: <https://app.capturepilot.com/kit/certifications> Next step: <https://app.capturepilot.com/kit/capability-statement> (Capability Statement)